Metepenagiag Heritage Park

Redbank, New Brunswick, Canada, 2007

The junction of Little Southwest and Northwest Miramichi Rivers in northeastern New Brunswick is home to the Metepenagiag Mi'kmaq First Nation community.

The Augustine Mound National Historic Site and the Oxbow National Historic Site are under the protection of Metepenagiag Heritage Park. The park's primary objective is to preserve and present the historical and social significance of these two sites.

Description

XYZ produced a multimedia show combining multiple projections highlighting the protection and interpretation of the Augustine Mound and the Oxbow National Historic sites. The intimate atmosphere and colourful decor make this presentation especially memorable.
